Explanations

Our company has signed a significant commercial collaboration agreement with FACC AG, the global leader in the global aerospace industry. The agreement covers the process related to the supply of flame retardant epoxy-based products specially produced by Kordsa for use in the cabin interior components to FACC AG.

Pioneering the transition from phenolic-based volatile chemicals to flame retardant epoxy-based chemicals in cabin interiors, the product prevents the emergence of harmful substances throughout various processes, from raw material production to the development of final components, marking a revolutionary development towards employee health. In addition, the products demonstrate a high performance in one of the aviation industry's most critical and challenging criteria - flammability - ensuring the highest level of passenger safety in potential fire-related incidents or accidents.

The total value of the products in the scope of this agreement will be determined in the future. The total monetary value of the orders will be announced to the public if they will have material impact on our consolidated financials.
